“With the plethora of additional programming and supports, the Study Abroad Office has exceeded the constraints of “study” abroad. Our vision statement is “to create opportunities for students, faculty and staff that inspire academic and personal growth while building a university community with a broader world view, as well a deeper understanding and greater appreciation of other cultures.” The office offers experiences for students, faculty, and staff in international studying, interning, research, and service-learning. SAO offers annual symposia, lead workshops, and partner across our campus with the goal to further internationalize UofSC.

SAO’s new name, The Education Abroad Office, is a representation of both the office vision statement and expansion of international programming.”

Faculty Symposium 3.0

September 18, 2020

Join us for this year's virtual Faculty Symposium. Each session is tailored to support you in designing programming for this year and to bolster your future endeavors.

8:45am - Zoom Meeting Room Opens

8:50-8:55am - Welcome

9:00-9:55am - Virtual Programming: How to Build a Global Learning Experience (GLE)

Karen Edwards, Senior Instructor/Faculty Member, College of HRSM

*Sandy Strick, Associate Professor & Director of the Wine and Beverage Institute, College of HRSM
CIS Abroad & Worldstrides ISA*

Jenna Rees-White, Global Collaborations Manager, Education Abroad Office

With the mass evacuation of students in Spring and cancellations in Summer, the EAO continued to pursue internationalized programming in a virtual manner. Two faculty leaders, Karen and Sandy, led the pilot faculty-led GLE. In addition to their methods and insights, some of our third-party providers will speak about their support in virtual internationalized programming and what this new partnership looks like. Whether as a contingency plan for a much beloved Global Classroom or as an entirely separate course on its own, learn to build your own virtual course.

10:00-10:55am - Striving for Inclusive Excellence in Faculty-Led Programs

Anuja Parikh, Education Abroad Advisor, Diversity and Inclusion Coordinator

In this session, we will work to gain a better understanding of inclusive excellence and the role we play in developing intentional programs. We will take a comprehensive approach and examine program design, recruitment, pre-departure, on-site support, and re-entry as they relate to the Global Classroom cycle.

11:00-11:55am - Captivating Students with your Global Classroom: A Student Panel

Students from previous Global Classroom Programs will sit on a panel, moderated by EAO's Hannah Quire, answering questions about how they found and decided on their GCP. While there will be prepared questions and answers, there will be time for a live Q&A at the end.

12:00-1:00pm - Networking with Providers and EAO Q&A

Network with some of our providers and ask Jenna some quick questions about Global Classrooms. Providers present are: AIFS, CEA, CIS, Hart Travel Partners, SAI, TEAN, and Worldstrides ISA.
